Altınyayla / Dirmil

Altınyayla is one of the settlements where people lived as early as 3rd millennium BC. It was one of the most important science and art centers of the region during the Ottoman period.

The district hosts Sipsi Festival and Oil Wrestling competitions every year. Turkish folk music instrument Sipsi, which means thin and delicate, has become the symbol of Altınyayla by being registered with the geographical indication. Oil Wrestling competitions are held one week after the famous Kırkpınar Oil Wrestling Competition in Edirne.

Altınyayla is known for its natural beauties and fertile lands as well as its history. Agriculture and animal husbandry are the most important livelihoods. Altınyayla pioneers especially in the production of cultivated mushrooms. 16% of the cultivated mushrooms produced in our country is grown in the district.
